Professional Presentations:

Expert Strategies to Speak with Clarity, Confidence and Connection

Program Description

Effective public speaking is one of the most impactful skills any professional can develop, and yet it remains one of the least practiced and mastered.

In this highly interactive, results-oriented program, professional speaker Lindsey Pollak shares immediately applicable tips and tricks for professionals of all levels to improve formal presentations, pitches, informal speaking moments, in-person events and online interactions.

All attendees receive significant practice and feedback to help build their content organization, delivery skills and overall executive presence.

Key Takeaways

- Discover how structure is the secret to the success of any presentation.
- Learn simple strategies to organize any presentation, from preparation and content organization through slide design and delivery.
- Master confidence-inspiring body language, pacing and eye contact while eliminating "ums" and other filler words.
- Receive real-time, personalized feedback and significant practice.

"Lindsey is dynamic, knowledgeable and engaging. We continue to invite her back to speak at our National Convention because she provides our community with the information and tools to be stronger leaders in today's ever-changing workplace."
